Democratic nominees unchanged

Penciled ballots voided

By RICH ADAMS
A ballot-by-ballot recount of the 35 Hancock County Democratic precinct boxes Thursday reconfirmed victories for Chancery Court clerk nominee Mike Necaise and County School superintendent candidate Billy Sills by larger margins than reported in unofficial results Tuesday.

A legal snag was encountered late in the recount, however, as members of the Democratic Executive Committee discovered some 182 ballots from the Edwardsville box were marked in pencil.

Committee Attorney Joseph Benvenuti said Mississippi Code 23-5-151 requires all ballots must be marked in either blue or black ink to be counted. Therefore, Benvenuti explained, ballots marked in pencil or other ink colors must be considered invalid.

Throughout the day, the committee had ruled as spoiled numerous ballots marked in pencil and red ink, and the question of whether the large number of Edwardsville votes were allowable was addressed to the Attorney General by Benvenuti.

The executive committee, after lengthy consultation, decided to throw out the large number of votes, then stipulated that any candidate wishing to object to the procedure could file suit and request another election in that precinct.

Necaise increased his victory margin over two-term incumbent J.D. (Big John) Rutherford Jr., defeating the former Internal Revenue Service auditor by 85 votes.

"I am really tired and exhausted," Necaise said after the recount.

"This is the greatest moment in my life. I feel really grateful. I am just appreciative to the people who came to my aid," the Democratic nominee said.

In regard to the ruling by the committee to throw out the Edwardsville votes, Necaise said the ruling was fair.

"They were throwing out all other ballots marked with red ink, green ink, and pencil. The law is the law," Necaise stated.

"The results turned out to be true. There was not that much difference," he added.

Rutherford declined comment on the issue Friday, saying he will "make a statement soon."

In the superintendent's race, Sills increased his unofficial two vote victory over incumbent Terry Randolph to carry the Democratic nomination by 15 votes.

Sills, Randolph, and their attorneys kept a close watch on all precinct boxes as committee members counted the votes, and by mid-afternoon Sills was guaranteed a victory.

"I am elated, overjoyed, and have a lot of people I have to thank," Sills said after he was officially certified as the

Randolph congratulated Sills and offered his assistance to the nominee in familiarizing him with the superintendent's office.

"As I congratulated Mr. Sills in victory with grace, I invited him to freely come into the superintendent's office and work alongside me until Jan. 1 so I can assist him in any way and offer any help he may need to effectively perform his duties," Randolph said after the recount.

"I believe Mr. Sills is very qualified for the position he has been elected to."

Waveland gets $5 million center

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Construction of a $5 million shopping center in Waveland, which will include a cinema, should begin in about two weeks, according to member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

"Ground breaking ceremonies for the new shopping center should be in about two weeks," developer and chamber member Gary Gilmore said Friday.

The proposed 155,000 square-foot complex will be constructed at the corner of Nicholson Avenue and US-90 in the southwest quadrant, the developer stated.

"The shopping center will be about 30 percent larger than Our Shopping Center in Waveland," he added.

Gilmore says a major chain grocery store, drug store and department store, in addition to a theatre will be constructed at the site.

"Project completion date is anticipated in July, 1980," says Gilmore, "however, the cinema, which will be called Town Square Twin Cinema, should be completed in approximately six months."

The shopping complex is designed to provide 1,000 parking places, and some 20,000 square feet of the complex will be available for rent.

Teachers, patrons not informed

Bay school board cancels special quarterly meeting

By RICH ADAMS
Some 15 parents, teachers, school patrons, and members of the press showed up for a special quarterly public meeting of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Thursday night, a meeting board members and school administrators failed to attend.

Board Member Maurice Singleton said Friday the meeting was cancelled by the board "in light of the law suit" filed against the board and superintendent in August.

Board Member Betty Diboll said in a telephone conversation later Thursday night, "I believe the meeting was canceled because of the law suit."

Board President Virginia Gex was unavailable Thursday night or Friday for comment on why the meeting was cancelled without public notification.

Singleton said the board cancelled the meeting and notified Superintendent J.D. McCullough of the change, but the superintendent apparently failed to notify teachers in the system, parents, and the press.

The meeting was to be the first of a series of quarterly public meetings agreed upon by the board in June, on a motion by Board Member James Ginn.

The meetings were agreed upon to allow free communications between the board, administration, and school patrons.

The meeting was to be open discussion of grievances and ideas of patrons.

McCullough Friday would say only he is "...under a court case at this time—any other information you will have to obtain from our lawyer."

Board Attorney Lucien Gex was in Gulfport Friday, according to his secretary, and could not be reached for comment.

The court action McCullough referred to is a suit filed jointly by the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization and the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers.

Also listed as plaintiffs in the suit are individuals are North Bay PTO

President Lana Noonan, Bay St. Louis Local; AFT—President—Andrews Wilkinson, Charles Gottschalk, Gloria Holland, and Mrs. Elmer Boyd.

Ginn said Friday afternoon that the board "will not conduct any special meetings until (the suit) is behind us."

"I think it was good sense on behalf of the board to cancel the meeting. We are being sued because of special meetings," Ginn said.

STREETS REJECTED

A proposed $500,000 bond issue to finance street and drainage improvements was rejected by Pass Christian municipal voters in a special election Tuesday.

Unofficial returns showed 352 votes favoring the issue with 307 against it. A 60 percent majority was required for passage.

The issue failed in each of the city's four wards.

SHRIMPING FEE ATTACK

A new state law in Louisiana that would impose a fee on shrimpers for use of state-owned waters was rejected in a referendum Tuesday.

The law, which would have imposed a fee on shrimpers for use of state-owned waters, was rejected by a 5-2 vote of the Louisiana State Legislature.

The law would have imposed a fee on shrimpers for use of state-owned waters, which would have been used to finance the state's shrimp fleet.

Outside interests expected to oppose Port dredging

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Louisiana interests are expected to oppose a Hancock County supported plan to have the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers maintain the channel from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway through the Riglets and Little Lake in Louisiana to Port Blenville Industrial Park.

A public meeting is scheduled Thursday at 7 p.m. at Coast Electric Power Association Auditorium on Main Street in Bay St. Louis to discuss the dredging plan.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which originally dredged the channel more than 25 years ago for National Space Administration laboratories, recommends the dredging.

The channel from the waterway to Port Blenville would be dredged to 12 feet by 100 feet and maintained permanently.

The Corps' plan is being reviewed by the Corps and the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi.

corps recommends the Little Lake route, because the dredged material is deposited in an upland site rather than in open water, which creates the least amount of environmental harm.

"Also," Wehre adds, "the plan is the most cost-efficient method."

The channel, which will improve navigation to and from the county industrial park, had an original depth of 12 feet, but was not an authorized federal project and was therefore not maintained by the corps.

The channel has filled in a great deal and only reaches a depth of 11 feet in a narrow section.

The dredging is part of a larger project, which will include the construction of a new channel from the waterway to the industrial park.

The project will be reviewed by the Corps and the governors of Louisiana and Mississippi.

"The corp's cost for the project will be $1,100,000 with Hancock's expense being $95,000 in in-kind services," Wehre explains.

"Louisiana interests are expected to oppose the plan at the meeting Thursday, because rumors have spread that dredging of this channel is a back door approach to make the East Pearl River navigable again," Wehre stated.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARGARET COLLIER
Mrs. Margaret Collier, 78, a resident of Bay St. Louis, died Thursday. A graveside service is to be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Evergreen Cemetery, Gulfport.
Mrs. Collier is survived by a son, Charles E. Myers of El Paso, Texas; a daughter, Mrs. J.W. Fowler of Jackson; seven grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.
Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport is in charge of services.

EATON A. LANG SR.
Funeral services for Eaton Adlai (Ad) Lang Sr., 86, Pass Christian real estate and insurance executive, were at 10:10 a.m. Saturday at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Pass Christian.

Wake services were Friday night at Lang Funeral Home in Gulfport, and burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery.
Mr. Lang died Thursday, August 30, 1979.

A lifelong resident of Pass Christian, he was the son of the late Nellie Nelson and John H. Lang, pioneer residents.

He resided at 125 E. Hayden Drive, Pass Christian. Active in business and civic affairs, Mr. Lang founded E.A. Lang Real Estate and Insurance (now E.A. Lang and Son) in 1925.

Prior to establishing the business, he was the manager of the Hancock Bank in Pass Christian.
In 1959 Mr. Lang was named Pass Christian's "outstanding citizen."

He was a charter member of the Pass Christian Rotary Club, which he served as secretary for 29 years. He was selected as a Paul Harris Fellow, an exclusive group of Rotary.

Mr. Lang was also a member of the Pass Christian Yacht Club, Pass Christian Isles Golf Club, the Metropolitan Dinner Club and a member and past president of the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce.

He was a past president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Insurance Agents, a member of the Mississippi State Insurance Agents, a member Association and National Insurance Association.

He was a member of the Gulf Coast Real Estate Board, a member of St. Paul's Catholic Church and a former member of the Mississippi Economic Council.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marie Hicks Lang; three sons, Capt. John H. Lang, Eaton A. Lang Jr. and Nelson C. Lang, all of Pass Christian; two stepsons, Judge Ralph H. Hicks and Geoffrey S. Hicks, both of Atlanta, Ga.; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Carol H. West of Atlanta, and Miss Audrea L. Hicks of Pass Christian and New Orleans; 16 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

WILLIAM NIPPO

William Nippo, 77, No. 3 Betsy Ave., Pass Christian, died Wednesday morning, Aug. 29, 1979, in Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

Mr. Nippo, a retired circus performer, was born Jan. 29, 1902, in Texas and had lived on the coast for seven years. He served in the Canadian Air Corps and was a Catholic.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Bernice S. Nippo, Pass Christian.

A prayer service was held with Riemann Funeral Home, Gulfport in charge of arrangements.

CHARLES SHAMBLEY

The body of Charles G. Shambley was sent from Edmond Fabey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis to the House of Bultman, St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans, where his funeral was conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery in New Orleans.

Mr. Shambley, 78, a retired furniture upholsterer and a resident of Waveland Avenue, Waveland, died Tuesday, Aug. 27, 1979.

Born in New Orleans, he was a member of St. Clare's Catholic Church in Waveland and a resident of Waveland five years.

Survivors include his wife, Gertrude M. Shambley; a son, Charles R. Shambley, both of Waveland; a brother, Alfred Shambley of Clermont Harbor; and a sister, Mrs. Laura Lensmeyer of New Orleans.

Catahoula native, wife three children killed

By EDGAR PEREZ

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Lake Stevens, Wash., for Hancock County native Henry James Jr., 49, his wife, three children, and a family friend who were killed Wednesday, August 22, near Laramie, Wyo., when their mobile home collided head-on with a dump truck.

Two other persons, passengers in the truck, were also killed in the early morning accident.

James, a resident of Lake Stevens, Wash., was a Catahoula Community native and brother of Rogers James, also of Catahoula and assistant principal of Bay St. Louis Junior High School.

Also killed in the accident were his wife Charlotte; daughter Paula, 18; and sons David, 16, and Moses, 10.

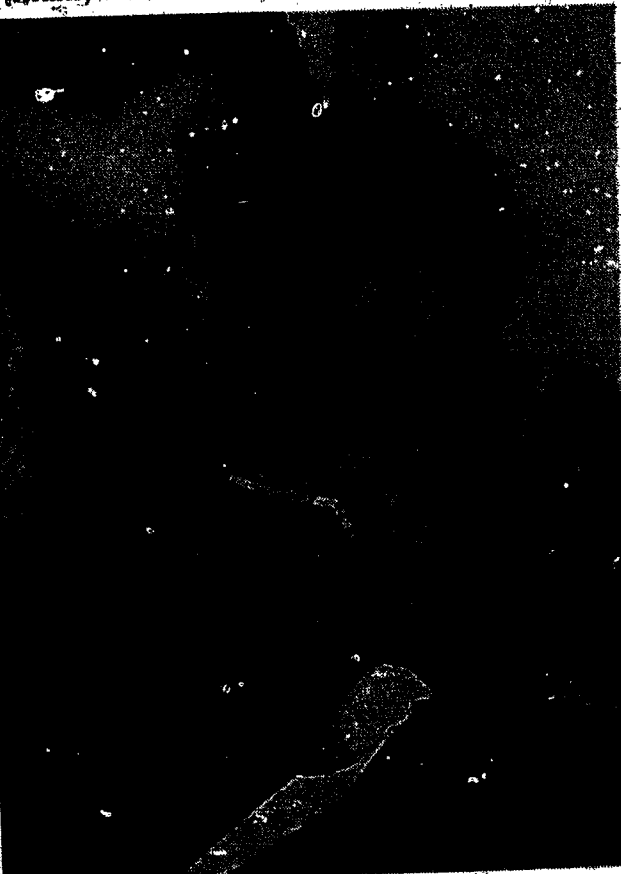

Another daughter, Karen, 15, was injured in the accident, according to local relatives.

James and his family, who had last visited relatives in Hancock County in June last year, were enroute to Pennsylvania to visit his wife's relatives at the time of the accident.

James was a 30-year veteran of the United States Air Force.

Several relatives from Hancock County journeyed to Washington for the funeral services last week.

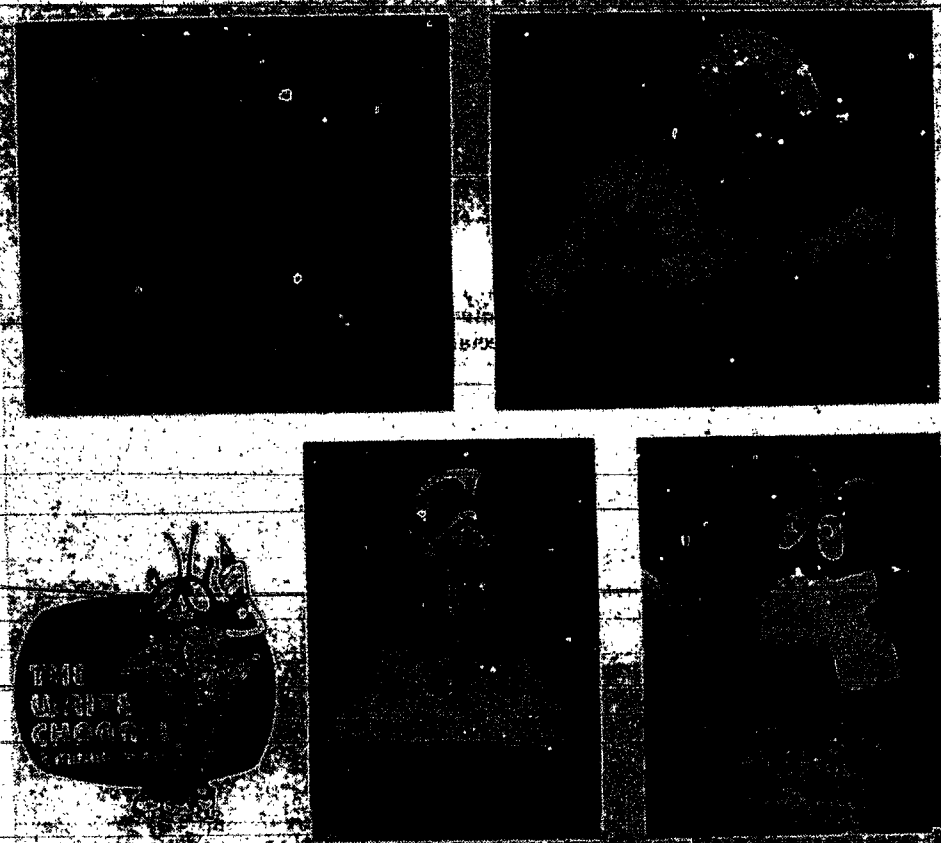

In addition to his brother Rogers and daughter Karen, other survivors include four sons, Richard James of Pasadena, Ca., Charles James, Michael James, and Henry James III, all of Lake Stevens; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry James Sr. of Catahoula; brother, George James of Vista, Ca.; and seven sisters, Mrs. Elsie Collins, Gulfport; Mrs. Ruth Franklin, Mrs. Evelyn Newkirk, Miss Jean James, and Mrs. Ethel Walbour, all of Catahoula; Mrs. Edna Oliver, Vallejo, Ca., and Mrs. Ann Barnett, Columbia, Md.

PETE AND MARTY—Try to prove that they saw a UFO on a camping trip by collecting more information. They use several sources of information to help solve their problem in a program from "ThinkAbout," a new classroom video series for fifth and sixth graders. "ThinkAbout" can be seen twice weekly on the Mississippi ETV Network—at 9 a.m., Mondays and Wednesdays, with rebroadcasts at 1 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays. The series begins the week of September 17. Clips from "ThinkAbout" can be seen on Mississippi ETV's "preview night" special, "Television Is For Learning," at 7 p.m., Thursdays, September 13; with a rebroadcast at 3 p.m., Sunday, September 16.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

High blood pressure, a major factor in stroke and heart attack, presents no characteristic symptoms and must be diagnosed and treated by a physician. Nearly 34 million American adults have high blood pressure. Black Americans are nearly 50 percent more likely than white Americans to have high blood pressure. The disease usually can be controlled with drug therapy and some simple diet changes.

FROM START TO FINISH—R.B. Bugg, star of Mississippi ETV's new language arts series "The Write Channel," wasn't always a foot-tall, stop-motion animation puppet. He started out as a metal armature (photo in upper left-hand corner), or metal "skeleton." Next, polyform models of his parts were made to be used for casting molds. Also, different parts of his clothing and accessories, such as his eyeglasses, had to be fitted. Only after much planning did the pup new reporter for mythical Egg City's mythical WORD-TV emerge as a new star in this fall's line-up of instructional television programming for schools. "The Write Channel," produced by the Mississippi Center for Educational Television in cooperation with the Agency for Instructional Television, premieres on Mississippi ETV at 9:15 a.m., Monday, September 17.

USM offers independent study courses

The Department of Independent Study at the University of Southern Mississippi will participate in four credit courses to be taught by the Mississippi Educational Television Network this fall.

The beginning dates and courses are: Japan: The Living Tradition, Sept. 21; Teacher as Manager, Sept. 3; Strategies in Reading, Sept. 19; and Connections: Technology and Change, to be offered in October.

Each course can be taken for three hours of independent study credit and all will have alternate viewing times. According to the Director of Independent Study at USM, Jim Robertson, there will be three viewing times with independent study credit for each course. The first will be held three weeks after the course begins, the second a month and the third at the conclusion of the course.

For a copy of the program brochure and to learn more about the courses, contact the Department of Independent Study, University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, MS 39401, or telephone (601) 266-4267.

"Connections: Technology and Change, will be supplemented by newspaper courses with several area papers expected to participate," he said.

For additional information, contact Jim Robertson at Box 5056, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, MS 39401 or telephone (601) 266-4267.

H and PE, safety eyed in ten METV series

The Mississippi ETV Network is offering ten series in the area of health, physical education and safety this school year. The series begin the week of September 17.

"The Clyde Frog Show," a production of the Mississippi Center for Educational Television, is designed to help pre-school and primary grade level children understand and cope better with their own feelings and attitudes.

Each of the ten programs in the series contains three stories which are part-humorous, part-serious dramatizations of typical events in the life of a child.

Following each story, all the characters in the story appear in the Talk Show and discuss their feelings about what happened in the preceding story.

"The Clyde Frog Show" can be seen at 9:15 a.m., Fridays, beginning September 21.

Another Mississippi ETV production starring Clyde Frog is "About Safety," which is designed to help elementary children develop concepts of safe living. The series uses puppets to dramatize situations which explain the need for safety rules. "About Safety" can be seen at 9 a.m., Tuesdays, beginning September 18.

"Civil Defense Education" is a series produced by Mississippi ETV to assist schools in meeting the Mississippi State Department of Education accreditation requirements for civil defense education.

It is applicable for grades one through 12 and covers tornadoes, hurricanes, nuclear disasters, floods, earthquakes, earthquakes, fires, heatwaves and pollution.

The programs can be seen at 9:15 a.m., Wednesdays, beginning February 6 (second semester).

Designed to capture students' attention through the vehicle of the TV detective story, "Conrad" can be seen at 11:30 a.m., Thursdays, beginning September 20.

"All About You" uses film clips, models, microscope slides and a lively cast of puppets to introduce first- and second-graders to the marvel of the human body in a series that focuses on physical growth and development and the importance of good health habits.

The programs can be seen at 12:15 p.m., Thursdays, beginning September 20.

"Mulligan Stew" is a series designed to help students in grades four through seven learn more about how to maintain good health through better nutrition. Two programs are shown weekly: at 1:30 p.m., Tuesdays, and at 1:30 p.m., Thursdays, beginning April 22 (second semester).

Soybean

Association elects

Allan Aves, a soybean grower from Kirkland, Illinois, was elected President of the American Soybean Association (ASA) during the ASA National Convention just completed in Atlanta.

Aves was elected by 42 soybean growers who, as members of the ASA Board of Directors, represent 20,000 soybean producers in 24 states affiliated with ASA.

Other producers elected to head ASA for the next year were: Frank Ray of Baker, Florida, first vice president; William Biddle of Remington, Indiana, secretary; Richard Husey of Tunica, Mississippi, treasurer; Herb Halvorson of Hanoka, Minnesota, vice president; Charles Hamon of Valley Falls, Kansas, vice president; B.B. Spaulding, Jr. of Union Springs, Alabama, vice president and Hugh Wilson of Washington Court House, Ohio, vice president.

Retiring President, Marilyn Groot of Manson, Iowa was elected Chairman of the ASA Board of Directors.

The American Soybean Association is a national non-profit volunteer, single commodity organization of soybean producers organized to assure the opportunity of a profitable soybean industry.

To accomplish this, ASA conducts programs for market development of soybeans and soybean products, gives strong support for effective programs that are of vital concern to soybean producers.

ASA is governed by a board of soybean producers elected by its 24 affiliated state associations. Each state is represented by a number of directors proportionate to the total soybean production in the state. Directors can serve on the ASA board nine consecutive years.

Aves' diversified 1,750 acre farming operation includes 580 acres of soybeans and a herd of purebred Yorkshire hogs. His active involvement with the Land of Lincoln Soybean Association has included a term as President of the organization.

In 1976 Aves was elected to the ASA Board of Directors. He has since served as President of the ASA Market Development Foundation and Chairman of the Public Affairs Committee.

For the past year, he has been ASA First Vice President for Government Relations. As ASA President Allan Aves will represent American soybean growers nationally and internationally in the coming year.

"Self Incorporated" is an interdisciplinary series designed to help early adolescents deal with the questions and problems that arise as a result of the physical and social changes they are experiencing.

"Self Incorporated" can be seen at 8:30 a.m., Wednesdays, beginning September 18.

"It's Your Move" is designed to promote pedestrian and bicycle safety habits and to help students develop sound attitudes toward safety practices in all aspects of their lives.

The programs can be seen at 11 a.m., Thursdays, beginning September 20.

"Conrad" encourages good health practices and presents a wealth of cognitive information about physical health and the body systems.

Aspirin for reader's tax headaches

In a recent letter to the editor one of our readers complained about how much his auto license tag cost for the second year. We did some checking Thursday on the complaint in the office of Edward Murtagh, Hancock County tax collector-assessor.

In checking we find the rates charged on license tags set by the state on vehicles according to size; two or four door; number of passengers; four, six or eight cylinders; and is figured against the number of mills set by the Board of Supervisors, cities, school districts, and other governmental entities authorized to levy ad valorem taxes.

One reason our reader's tag price for the second year was more than for the first on his new car was because there was an additional mill for the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District added in the meantime.

We had Mr. Murtagh's office refigure the reader's tag fee to double check amounts and found they were correct according to the State's formula for figuring local millage.

We have found in past experience there usually is very little difference between the cost of a tag for a new car and for the same vehicle the second year.

The state figures very little in depreciation, and the assessor has to use the rates set by the State.

Our readers also complained about the amount of taxes he had to pay on a new house.

We found he is over 65, and therefore pays no county taxes on his new home. The taxes he is concerned about were due on lots he purchased but which were still in the previous owners name.

Many times we fail to realize that property taxes are paid one year later in Mississippi. In January of 1980, taxes for the year of 1979 will be due from Hancock County property owners.

Bits 'n pieces

It is hard for us to understand children having to attend school in August.

When we were in school it was always after Labor Day before we started. Of course we didn't have spring holidays.

The date seems to be coming earlier each year in August and pretty soon summer vacation will only be two months instead of three like it was when we were in school.

We hope each and everyone of you will have a safe Labor Day vacation. We know a lot of you will be travelling, so as a precaution try to leave a little earlier.

We all have complained about the hot weather, and usually Labor Day means it won't be around much longer.

Just think, we will all be wanting the cold weather to leave for the warm weather in not too many months. We have a tendency of never being satisfied.

If you stay in town this weekend don't forget the big Fire Works Display being put on by the Waveland Civic Association. The County, Waveland and Bay St. Louis help the Civic Association by lending a little financial aide to the fine group of local businesses wanting to put a little color in the Labor Day weekend.

The fireworks will be this evening at 8:30 p.m. at the head of Coleman Avenue in Waveland. Hope you all can make it, remember it is free to the public.

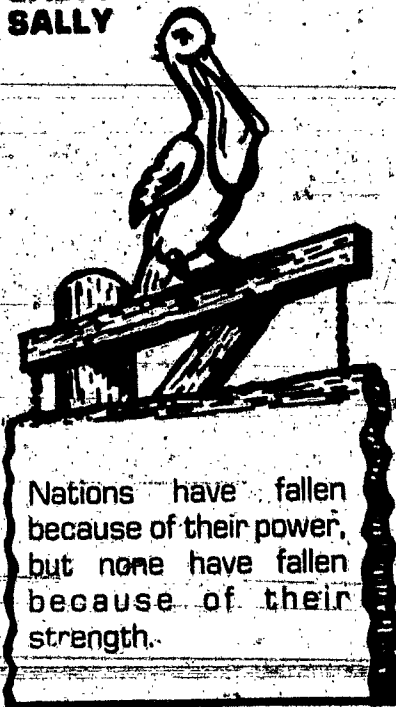

The Waveland Civic Association will also be involved in the annual Muscular Dystrophy Drive starting at 5 p.m. today through 6 p.m. Monday.

If you can help the worthy cause, many will be grateful for your consideration.

The Election Tuesday proved the need for everyone voting with one race unofficially finishing with only a two vote difference.

We again want to thank all the folks who exercised their rights by voting. Every vote certainly does count in Hancock County!

SALTY SALLY

MEC News

A HIDDEN COST - GOVERNMENT PAPERWORK
Our free enterprise system is today shouldering a burden unheard of by our merchant forefathers - a burden which, in the last quarter century, has multiplied many times.

Paperwork - required by a morass of regulations - has reached the point where it costs business $100 billion a year by recent estimates. The chief results of this growing burden are increased costs to the consumer through lower productivity and lower efficiency, increasing the inflationary spiral.

The free enterprise system is responsible for making this country the wealthiest nation on earth with its citizens enjoying the highest standards of living. But, we are strangling ourselves with regulations.

The Mississippi Economic Council, the largest organization of business and professional leadership in the state, recognizes the fact that the federal government is charged with the responsibility for providing for the general welfare and for regulating commerce among the states.

But, this responsibility has become a multi-headed monster.

MEC recommends that the economic impact of regulations should be determined prior to their issue, federal agency functions should be reviewed to eliminate duplication and overlapping, only knowledgeable persons should be allowed to draft regulations, and Congress should consider and evaluate the long-range impact of regulatory activity.

What once was known as government red tape is now known as strangulation, and lawmakers should address themselves to the task of eliminating unnecessary regulations - an act which would increase productivity and efficiency.

Senator reveals Corps response to hole inquiry

August 15, 1979

Honorable J. P. Compretta
Attorney at Law
Waveland

Dear J. P.:

I enclose herewith a copy of a letter I have recently received from Mr. Ryan of the Corps of Engineers in Mobile regarding my inquiry on behalf of officials in Hancock County and their concern over the "hole" in the Gulf of Mexico. I believe this letter to be self-explanatory.

Please be assured that I will continue to follow this matter closely. When I have received a further response, I will be in touch with you.

With all good wishes, I am
Your friend,
JOHN C. STENNIS
United States Senator

JCS:esp
Enclosure

SAMOP-O 10 August 1979

Honorable John C. Stennis
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20540

Dear Senator Stennis:

Reference is made to your letter of 31 July 1979 on behalf of Hancock County, Mississippi, regarding the "hole" in the Gulf of Mexico. The Corps of Engineers is currently conducting a study of the area and will report its findings to the Secretary of the Army.

Further reference is made to earlier correspondence concerning this matter; namely, your letter of 28 June 1978 on behalf of Ms. Anita D. Lamb, President, Hancock County, Chamber of Commerce, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and the Corps of Engineers response dated 1 July 1978, copies attached.

Due to the intense interest and widespread publicity stemming from several drownings related to the "hole" offshore of the Waveland Beach area, and the resulting litigation concerning the fatalities, I am taking the liberty to provide you with this interim reply pending preparation of an in-depth report.

I have scheduled a detailed briefing by my staff to fully apprise me of all the aspects of this matter, especially the litigation by the Hancock County officials that the Corps has refused to look at or rectify the problem.

A full response will be provided you no later than 20 August 1979. Thank you for your patience in this matter.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT H. EVANS
Deputy Chief of Staff
U.S. Army

Enclosed for Senator Stennis and Mr. Ryan from Senate Staff and Mr. Ryan from Corps of Engineers.

Enclosed for Mr. Ryan from Corps of Engineers.

Dear Sir:

Attached please find a copy of a letter we received from Louisiana residents dated August 18, 1979.

We answered their request and let them know how much we appreciated their concern for this area of Hancock County. We encouraged them to continue to visit Hancock County - we need people like them.

Enclosed is a second letter, also attached, along with a check.

In this day and time it is heartwarming to have people from out of state show their concern for our problems. This is a true example of a Louisiana couple that enjoys the unique peace and tranquility of Hancock County.

We will turn the check over to the Hancock County Supervisors who maintain the pier.

Sincerely,
JERRY B. BENJON
Hancock County Supervisor

August 18, 1979

Dear Sir,

My husband and I have spent many weekends fishing from the Bay St. Louis pier at North Beach Boulevard and Carroll Avenue.

We were sorry to see most of your public piers damaged by Hurricane Bob.

We would like to send a donation to help the repairs. Would you please tell us who to make out the check to and where to send it?

It won't be the biggest donation in the world, but we hope it will help in some way.

Thank You,
Mr. & Mrs. William A. Dornbore
1424 Briarwood St.
Siddell, La. 70468

Please find enclosed a check for $30 to be used for repair and upkeep of the pier.

If you pass the pier on your way home, please let the pier know that we are thinking of them. Sincerely,
JERRY B. BENJON
Hancock County Supervisor

Darkened area between the double dashed lines indicates required dredging

Port dredging.....

Louisiana interests may oppose attempts at improving navigation on the East Pearl if it means diverting waters from the West Pearl River.

"This rumor is absolutely not true," he insisted.

In a letter to the corps, Donald Payne, president of Marine Concrete Structures, which is located within the Port Blenville complex, stated, "If the channel shoals up to more shallow depth than it is at present, which we find to be 10 feet in some places, we would be faced with closing down our Port Blenville plant."

Marine Concrete Structures builds concrete barges for use in offshore oil and gas production.

"Because the channel is not deep enough, some of the structures have to be partially built in Mississippi and floated to deeper water in New Orleans for completion at an added cost of $200,000 per structure," Payne's letter states.

Alternate routes, including an entrance to and from Port Blenville via the East Pearl River have been considered by the corps, but they find the Little Lake channel route more feasible, Wehre pointed out.

"The problem with the East Pearl routes is that Louisville and Nashville Railroad's horizontal swing bridge has a horizontal clearance of 37 feet," Wehre explains.

"The Little Lake route, in contrast, involves the railroad's Rigolets bridge which has a horizontal clearance of 153 feet," Wehre continues.

The director adds that failure to dredge the Little Lake route will limit the access to and from the industrial complex.

"I know that my office staff will welcome him the same as they did me," he added.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed working with the people in this county that were genuinely interested in education in Hancock County. The county is on the verge of tremendous growth and a school bond issue to support that growth for the betterment of the community is necessary," Randolph stated.

"I had some loyal supporters during my campaign, and I urge them to join Mr. Sills to reach greater goals for the best interest of the school system," he added.

Randolph said he plans to remain in education after leaving office in January.

All other candidates who were apparent nomination winners based on unofficial returns Tuesday night were also certified by the committee.

Incumbent District Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson who was bested in his bid for re-nomination by Roger Dale Ladner, brother of Hancock County School Board member Louie Ladner, has declined to concede his defeat.

Peterson implied at the committee meeting Thursday he will take further steps to retain his position, but would not elaborate.

Unconfirmed reports Friday indicated a Bay St. Louis law firm is grooming an independent candidate to oppose Roger Dale Ladner in the general election Nov. 7.

To qualify as an independent, a candidate must not have voted in any Democratic or Republican primary elections held to nominate candidates for the office sought.

Deadline to qualify as an independent candidate in the Nov. 7 election is 5 p.m. Friday, Sept. 7, according to Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis.

The owners are Roy Anselmo and John Neumeyer of New Orleans, who also own George Rogie's located in the Hyatt Regency Hotel in New Orleans, "which serves some of the finest food in that city," Gilmore exclaimed.

"Both of these men are young and very enthusiastic about Hancock County," Gilmore emphasized.

This latest development will be located diagonally across US-90 from another proposed center announced recently which is reported to include a K-Mart store.

"I was not aware the public and teachers were not notified that the meeting was called off," he added.

Singleton echoed Gilmore's caution in cancelling the meeting.

"We had things we planned to bring up at the meeting which we felt best if they were not brought up. This was strictly a decision of the board," Singleton said Friday.

"We notified the superintendent...I don't know why he did not tell the teachers," he added.

In the suit, the plaintiffs allege McCullough and the board denied their civil rights guaranteed under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

The legal action stems from the board's controversial Policy 18, which requires patrons to request in writing a 10-minute slot on the board's agenda and prohibits teachers from discussing hours, wages, or working conditions.

The plaintiffs are requesting abolishment of Policy 18 and are seeking $20,000 punitive damages from McCullough and the board.

The plaintiffs state in their petition if their suit is successful, any damages recovered will be used to purchase air conditioning at North Bay Elementary.

News Brief

DELTA-BLUES

The Mississippi ETV Network will videotape portions of the second annual Mississippi Delta Blues Festival September 1 for a special "performance documentary." The program tentatively scheduled to air on the Mississippi ETV Network as well as on the nationwide Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) next year.

Sponsored by Mississippi Action for Community Education (MACE), the National Endowment for the Arts and the Mississippi Arts Commission, the Delta Blues Festival is designed to showcase the music that many say was born in the Mississippi Delta.

Senior Citizens enter Edgewater art exhibit

Hancock County Senior Citizens arts and craft class members will exhibit their work at an Edgewater Plaza arts and crafts festival in Biloxi Wednesday, Sept. 5 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The festival is sponsored by Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District.

Local seniors participating in the festival will sell as well as display items.

Also at the festival, a painting demonstration will be offered by Hancock artists.

Three merchant associations have announced other arts and crafts shows in September and October.

The Battlefield Mall merchants association will conduct its arts and crafts festival Sept. 13 through 15 in Vicksburg.

Roebuck Shopping City merchants association has scheduled its festival for Oct. 12 and 13 in Alabama.

Westlake Mall merchants association arts and crafts exhibit will be in Bessemer, Ala. on Oct. 11, 12 and 13.

Exhibitors interested in any of the festivals should contact Gene Pollock, 2704 Fifth Street, N.E., Birmingham, Ala., 35215 or phone 255-454-4980.

BY DR. L.S. WALKER
ALL THINGS OF GREAT VALUE come at a high price. Someone, somewhere, sometime, in some way, paid a high price. Nothing worthwhile is free!

Our salvation cost Heaven its Crown Jewels, the Prince of Glory. God, in great love, gave His Son, a sacrifice to redeem us from our sins.

The Corinthians were reminded that "ye are bought with a price..." I Cor. 6:20.

Peter declared: "Ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold... But with the precious blood (life) of CHRIST, AS A LAMB WITHOUT BLEMISH AND WITHOUT SPOT" — I Peter 1:18-19.

Have you ever considered the high cost of freedom and liberty we enjoy as Americans?

For instance: For instance: Have you ever wondered what happened to those men who signed the Declaration of Independence?

Five signers were captured by the British as traitors, and tortured before they died. Twelve had their homes ransacked and burned. Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary Army; another had two sons captured. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or the hardships of the Revolutionary War.

What kind of men were they? Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners, men of means and well educated.

But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well that the penalty would be death if they were captured. They signed and they pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.

Carter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, gave his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts, and died in rags.

Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in Congress without pay, and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him, and poverty was his reward.

Try, if you will, to compare this kind of American statesman-patriot with the average congressman in Washington today who votes himself a fat salary increase in addition to every imaginable fringe benefit he assumes he can get away with. Kinda disgusting, isn't it?

Vandals or soldiers or both looted the properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyward, Rutledge, and Middleton.

Francis Lewis had his home and properties destroyed. The enemy jailed his wife and she died within a few months.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr. noted that the British General Cornwallis had taken over his home for his headquarters. The owner quietly urged General George Washington to open fire, which was done. The home was destroyed, and Nelson died bankrupt.

John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children died for their lives. His fields and grist mill were laid waste.

For more than a year he lived in forest and caves, returning home after the war to find his wife dead, his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion and a broken heart.

Morris and Livingston suffered similar fates.

Such were the losses and sacrifices of the American Revolution. Such was the price they paid. These were not wild-eyed, rabble-rousing ruffians; they were soft-spoken men of means and education. They had security, and unwavering, they pledged; for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

These independent Americans paid a high price for what we enjoy! Are we willing to do this much for the coming generations?

NEW ELDER—Elder Scott Erickson, right, of the The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, announces the arrival in Bay St. Louis of new Elder Ross Davies of Mountain View, Ca. Davies joins Erickson as a Mormon missionary in Hancock County. "My responsibility as elder is to preach the gospel," Davies says. (Staff photo-Leslie Williams)

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Feels like she's dead

Q. I'm a very new mother and a housewife. I do not know what is wrong with me. I am constantly depressed, I feel useless and inferior. I wish I could feel excited and peppy, but I don't. I love my husband and daughter, but something is missing. Do you have any ideas? I need help. I may even do something drastic. It's as if I am dead. I feel empty.

A. Your reaction often happens to a new mother, even though you know you should be excited and happy. You reveal insight, but don't blame yourself for your condition. This will pass, and a change in your thinking will help.

Try what an outstanding businessman, Forest Shackles, calls "thought-smanship." What you think, you look and feel and are. So start working on your thoughts by making a list of your assets and blessings. Then affirm aloud, "My husband is wonderful, my daughter is beautiful, etc. etc. and I am a happy, greatly blessed woman." In time your subconscious mind will accept this truth and you will feel better.

We are sending you our booklet, "Thought Conditions," which is free to any reader of this column. Write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

Smile again

Q. I am a real mess. I've been married 39 years to a good woman, but for all these years I have gone from one woman to another. I cuss at my wife and accuse her of everything in the book. I lie to her, and I know I have hurt her. But I don't seem to give a damn.

A. She has made our home beautiful, saves our money, but I never take her on a vacation or buy her a gift. I wish I knew what to do to put a smile on her face again. A friend told me he thought my wife was about to commit suicide. What can I do? Please answer quick.

A. All you need to do is to clean up that mess of double-crossing your wife. Be a loyal, decent, upright husband. You can start out giving her little things like flowers, candy, take her to a show or concert. But the big thing is to change yourself. She isn't dumb and she knows what a heel you have been. So start acting like a real man and she will be in the seventh heaven. And so will you.

Afternoon Nuptial Mass unites Mitchell, Gaudin

Sharon Ann Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allen Mitchell of Kiln, and Rocklin Matthew Gaudin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Joseph Gaudin of Pearlington, Catholic Church, Kiln, were married Saturday afternoon, August 11, at a performed the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Linda Rester, organist, Miss Connie Lee, vocalist, and Norman Rester, guitarist of Leetown. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown with an overlay of lace and full length sleeves. The A-line skirt swept to a chapel length train. Her chapel length veil of illusion was held by a lace caplet and she carried a bouquet of white silk roses and baby's breath entwined with pearls. Amy Mitchell attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Bell, Bay St. Louis, sister of the groom; Cindy McLaurin, Mobile, Ala., sister of the bride; Donna Zitterkopf, Bay St. Louis; Rise Dossett,

Calhoun, Beverly Wyatt, Kiln, and Paula Gaudin, Pearlington, niece of the groom. Flower girl was Robin Bennett, Kiln. They wore formal length red halter gowns fashioned with A-line skirts and flowing waist length chiffon capes and carried a single white long stem rose. Michael Gaudin, Pearlington, served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Irvin Favre, Fenton; Richard Mitchell, brother of the bride; Gene Bennett, Cleveland, Wyatt, Huey Curet, all of Kiln, and Joe Shaw, Pass Christian. Ushers were Edward E. McLaurin Jr., Mobile, Ala., and Don Harlan, Long Beach, Miss. Jeff Favre, Fenton, served as ring bearer. The mother of the bride received guests wearing a formal beige silk gown with a corsage of matching silk roses. The mother of the groom chose a light beige pantsuit; a corsage of yellow silk roses completed her ensemble. Arrangements of white gladioli and red carnations and branched silver candelabra decorated Jourdan River Shores Club House for the reception following the ceremony. Doris Wyatt and Barbara Cameron presided at the cake table and Betty Shiyon at the punch bowl. Jeannie Moran, Bay St. Louis, assisted in serving. For their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast the bride chose a cranberry dress and a white silk rose corsage. The couple will reside in

MHSA elects president

The Mississippi Health Systems Agency (MHSA) met Thursday, August 23, for its monthly meeting. Included on the agenda was agency business and review of health care applications.

One of the first items of business was the announcement from Dr. W.O. Barnett of his resignation as President of the agency due to his heavy work load. Because of the importance of the position, it was felt that a new president needed to be elected immediately. MHSA Board elected Albert B. Britton, M.D. of Jackson. Other Board Officers are: Vice-President - Howard D. Clark, M.D. of Morton; Secretary - Sandra Cummings of MS State (Office Manager at MS State University); and Treasurer - Sue Collins of Tupelo (Vice-President of Peoples Bank and Trust).

Recommended for approval for this area was:

(a) Health Education-Risk Reduction Project - The purpose of this application is to coordinate health education activities in the State and to initiate programs designed to reduce behavioral risk factors which lead to the development of chronic diseases. Cost: $112,944.

(b) Fluoridation Project - This project will initiate fluoridation of selected fluoride-deficient community water supplies; initiate and conduct concentrated community organization programs to inform public of desirability of fluoridation; and initiate and execute an effective surveillance program of fluoridation programs. Cost: $116,312.

Other agency business included minor changes in the Bylaws so that they are in conformance with DHEW regulations.

There were twelve health care applications presented to the Board for their consideration. Before being presented these applications go through various review stages from the review and recommendation of the community health planning committee and recommendations from each of these reviews are presented to the Board for their consideration. The Board members as part of their deliberation.

(c) Improved Pregnancy Outcome - This is a continuation effort authorized under the provisions of the Social Security Act Title V, Maternal and Child Funding for the improvement of Pregnancy Outcome. The purpose of this project is to improve the quality of life for both mothers and babies. Cost: $99,000.

Similar to the Mental Health Mental Retardation Community Mental Health Center Program, this project will provide services to pregnant women and their babies. The project will be implemented in the following counties: Hancock, Harrison, and Wilcox. The project will be implemented in the following counties: Hancock, Harrison, and Wilcox. Butterflies may look helpless but they are combative insects

The butterfly looks like one of nature's most helpless creatures. But its fragile appearance is deceiving. Actually, it is a tough, combative little-winged insect with some amazing powers, according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine. In defending their home territory, butterflies can be "astonishingly aggressive," says the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation. An angry butterfly, for example, may pursue a trespasser for 500 yards to repel him.

Adult butterflies can't bite, but some of the more pugnacious species—such as the pearl crescent and the American copper-will dart out at anything that ventures into their "turf," whether it is a cat, a dog, a human, a Frisbee, or even the shadow of an airplane.

Some butterflies brawl vigorously among themselves over territorial rights, says National Wildlife. Three or four buckeye butterflies will rise into the air together and attempt to batter one another to earth. The males of the Minor's swallowtail are so belligerent that their fights often result in shredded wings, lost legs, and broken antennae.

Butterfly assaults are often accompanied by a "battle cry"—a series of sharp clicks, audible for more than 100 feet and made by snapping two body segments together while moving both pairs of wings at a peculiar, alternating beat.

Butterflies possess "remarkably acute" senses, says the National Wildlife report. They are thought to have the broadest visual spectrum of any animal on earth.

Their senses of smell and taste are extremely sharp and vital to their feeding and mating. Monarch butterflies, for example, have a taste sensitivity about 2,400 times greater than humans.

Considering their powerful senses and their belligerence, the magazine concludes, it's fortunate for humans that butterflies are "all bluster and no bite."

Provide a variety of habitats. Different butterflies require different conditions, so try to create sunny, shaded, and breezy areas; protection from wind; a shallow pool, and an adjacent damp spot for drinking.

Avoid using chemical insecticides.

Provide the small, bright flowers that butterflies favor, such as aralia, polyanthus, sweet rocket, honesty, mauve, valerian, pink thrift, catmint, sweet William, the single French marigolds, and white alyssum.

Cut back shrubs each spring to encourage more blossoms. Also cut back some of the plants used by caterpillars—milkweed, for instance—so that tender new growth will be available for later generations that same season.

Speak out against the application of needless—and often harmful—pesticides in your town and state. Discourage the spraying and cutting of roadside vegetation. Roadside provide pockets of prime habitat for butterflies.

Pork market depression expected until Spring year, market hogs averaged $51 per hundred. During the past two weeks, the same type of hogs sold for about $38.50.

Marketing experts, such as the Extension Service's economist, Dr. Joe Schmidt, say the future for market hogs is still not very good. We still expect to have a very high slaughter throughout the rest of the year, in fact, a record slaughter," he reports. The slaughter will be the largest since 1971. A 20 percent increase is expected through December of this year.

"This is going to have a continued depressing effect on prices and, as far as feed grains are concerned, we're going to have a very high price for feed grains. This is going to be a very high price for feed grains.

Dr. Schmidt predicts the depressed pork market will be with us at least through the spring quarter of 1980. He also says he sees one possible bright spot on the horizon. The large grain crops the nation's farmers are producing can ease the high cost of grain for pork producers.

should think in terms of a market hog weight, then he, the producer, can expect to pay anywhere between $30.34 for the feeder pig.

Essentially, pork producers need to look at their entire operations and determine how much can be invested with regard to the projected prices this winter are expected to bring.

FARM LABOR, July 1979
During the survey week of July 8-14, 1979, there were 66,000 workers on Mississippi farms. Farm operators working one hour or more and unpaid family members working 15 hours or more, totaled 32,000 and hired workers numbered 34,000. A year earlier there were 54,000 family workers and 41,000 hired workers. The average number of days available for fieldwork during the survey week was 1.7 compared to 1.7 last July.

All family workers averaged 36.0 hours of work during the survey week compared to 27.8 hours last year. Farm operators worked 34.2 hours and unpaid family members 37.1 hours. Hired workers worked 32.5 hours, down from the 36.1 hours worked last year.

Wage rates for all farm workers averaged $3.14 per hour. This is 43 cents greater than last July. Hourly workers received only cash wages averaged $3.25 per hour.

UNITED STATES
Employment on United States farms during the survey week of July 8-14, 1979 was estimated at 4.84 million workers, 7 percent under July a year ago. Working farm operators and unpaid family members working 15 hours or more numbered 2.43 million, 2 percent less than last July. Hired labor totaled 1.61 million, a reduction of 2 percent from July 1978.

All family members averaged 41.8 hours worked during the survey week this July, up from 39.3 hours during the comparable week last year, while unpaid family members worked 39.1 hours compared to 38.5 a year ago.

Hired workers on farms averaged 34.8 hours during the survey week this year, up from 35.8 hours a year earlier.

Farm wage rates for all methods of pay connected to an hourly rate averaged $3.23 during the week of July 8-14, 1979, twenty-nine cents above the average of $2.94 per hour paid a year ago. Hourly workers receiving only cash wages averaged $3.30 compared with $3.00 a year earlier.

Field workers received an average of $3.05 compared with $2.75 a year ago. Livestock workers received an average of $2.89, up 29 cents from the $2.70 per hour for the July 1978 survey week. Approximately 40 percent of the hired workers employed on farms during the July 1979 survey week received housing, room and board, meals or other perquisites in addition to cash wages.

Cool Weather Vegetables Add Interest To Gardening

MISSISSIPPI STATE
Mustard, turnips, tendergreens, kale, Chinese cabbage, collards - what do all these vegetables have in common? They are all leafy greens that can be grown in the garden during late August, September, October and November. Don't, however, limit your fall gardening efforts to these vegetables, says Dr. Milo Burnham, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

You can show your skill as a gardener by growing broccoli, the most nutritious vegetable of all, and spinach, the third most nutritious vegetable. What happened to the vegetable ranking second in nutritional value? Well, that's brussels sprouts - a hard vegetable to grow in Mississippi in the spring or fall, says Dr. Burnham.

"In addition to the cool season vegetables, the fall garden can also produce another crop of bush snap beans and Southern peas, if you hurry," he adds. "Time is not as critical for the southern half of the state as it is for the northern half. The warm season vegetables and long term cool season vegetables (beans, peas, Irish potatoes, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and brussels sprouts) must be planted in early August in north Mississippi."

The months of fall also bring harvest of vegetables planted in late spring and summer. Sweetpotatoes are dug in October before the soil gets cool. Even though the vines are still green, dig the potatoes if they've been planted 100 to 120 days.

The longer you leave a sweet potato in the ground, the larger it gets as long as the air and ground are warm. "October is also peanut harvesting time and the time to haul in pumpkin, winter squash and gourds," Dr. Burnham reminds gardeners.

"When the peanut plants begin to yellow, lift the plants and turn them over to expose the peanuts to the sun and air. This is the time to pull green peanuts for boiling. Let the others dry and then place the plants in a protected, well-ventilated, dry place for final drying."

Fall planting has a couple of "musts" for success. You must provide adequate moisture for the seeds to germinate. If the soil is dry, water the garden a day or two before you plan to plant, or pour water in the opened seed drill before placing the seed in the drill.

You must provide sufficient fertilizer and water to keep the plants growing. Time can be short in the fall garden. Any reduction in growth delays harvest and increases the chances of frost hurting or killing the vegetables. Also, any stop in growth can greatly reduce yields by stunting the plants or making the leaves bitter.

You must control weeds that compete for moisture and fertilizer and harbor insects and diseases, he adds. Spinach, a cool-weather leafy green, is rapidly regaining popularity. A substitute for lettuce in salads, it adds a new taste and texture, has a good green color, has more nutrients and can be grown in the garden fall, winter and spring. Spinach prefers a soil with plenty of organic matter, a pH near 7.0 and cool temperatures. Soak the seed overnight before planting, and you'll avoid some of the problems of getting a good stand.

"All in all, fall gardening can be a lot of fun. The weather is usually clear and cool and makes working in the garden enjoyable. Don't put away your seed, fertilizer and garden tools. Break them out for what may be some of the best gardening you've had all year," he urges.

TRAINING SAVES FIVE LIVES

On August 2 a 15-year-old youth from Batesville completed a series of safety courses at the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation's Youth Safety Seminar held at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Academy near Jackson, boarded a train for home, and within hours put his newly acquired expertise to work in saving five fellow passengers.

Scallion of Rankin county and his wife, Jacquelyn, were eating supper when Mrs. Scallion began to choke on a piece of steak. Earl leaped to her side when she could neither disgorge the meat nor cry out. He struck her sharply on the back with his palm several times and the meat ejected and the threat of strangulation was over. He had learned the technique at a Youth Safety Seminar by Farm Bureau safety specialists.

Brent Ragon was at the right place at the right time to restore life to 34-year-old John Whitney of Metairie, La., who received a severe electric shock on board the train. Whitney was standing between the electrically powered rest room doors when the train lurched and he grabbed onto the doors and received an electrical shock. He fell to the floor and that's all he could remember at the time. Later he made it back to his seat and told his wife he had just got the jolt of his life and was really hurting. Then he passed out and stopped breathing.

Mrs. Beverly Whitney frantically asked if there was anyone on board who knew CPR or cardiopulmonary resuscitation, which Ragon had just learned at the seminar. Brent came to assist and found Whitney without pulse or breath. Then he went into action, using the techniques he had learned during the two previous days at the safety seminar with American Red Cross certification.

"I tilted his head back and put my hand under his head. Then I gave him four quick breaths, and then started compressions on his chest to pump the air out of his lungs," Ragon said. "I kept doing Mrs. Whitney how to do the compressions so he could apply the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation required."

"For every five compressions, I gave him one breath," Ragon said. "After five breaths, I gave him one more breath and after that he started breathing. I kept doing this until the train stopped. The victim was removed from the train and taken to the hospital. Community officials are now looking into the cause of the accident."

Even younger Ricky Black, at age 11, saved his mother and younger sister from their burning home in Attala county after hearing a safety specialist tell what to do in the case of fire. Ricky's mother burst from the living room with her night clothing aflame one morning as he stood outside waiting for the school bus. He ran inside, grabbed pillows from a sofa and smothered the flames from her unconscious form on the front lawn which enabled her to regain consciousness and rescue a sleeping daughter from the house which then burned to the ground. Mrs. Black was hospitalized for 47 days and underwent 7 skin grafts, but over the life and that of her daughter to the training and quick thinking and action of Ricky.

But the first life known to have been saved as a result of these safety courses occurred when Andrew Youth Safety Seminar, Larry Davis, of Pearl River county, came home to find his 15-year-old son, who had been playing in the bottom of a farm pond and was drowning, moving the water from his lungs.

MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE AND
UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
SUMMARY OF 18 LIVESTOCK AUCTIONS REPORTED BY MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE WEEK ENDING AUGUST 23, 1979.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEEKLY BROTHERS, Week Ending: August 25
BROILER-TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 6,086,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending August 23, 1979, 5 percent above the previous week and less than one percent above the 6,041,000 set the corresponding week a year ago.

There were 5,421,000 broiler chicks placed on Mississippi farms during the week ending August 23, 1979, 5 percent below the previous week and virtually unchanged from the corresponding week a year ago.

Cumulative placements for 1979 are 106,125,000 broiler chicks - 3 percent above a year earlier.

EGG-TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 266,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending August 23, 1979, 3 percent below the previous week and 1 percent below the corresponding week a year ago. Cumulative placements for 1979 are 1,000,000 egg-type chicks - 1 percent below the corresponding week a year ago.

counted for about 25 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1979 settings during the week ending August 23, 1979 were up 25 percent and hatchings were 3 percent above a year ago.

TIPS FOR EARLY GRAZING
It is very important to get and hold a stand from the early plantings of winter-grazing crops according to John W. Smith, county agent. Plantings made before September 15 should be on land that has been fallowed for several weeks. Oats, rye and then wheat, in this order, are the best crops to plant early.

It is usually best not to seed rye grass with these early cereals because of the often heavy armyworm populations and the possibility of "blast" disease.

Delta State releases testing center dates

Delta State University in Cleveland, Miss., will serve as a testing center for six different tests for college and high school students during the 1979-80 school term.

Mrs. Mary Alice Cates, assistant to the director of counseling and testing, said Delta State will administer the American College Test for high school seniors on five dates and for entering college freshmen on four dates.

The ACT will be given to high school seniors on Oct. 20 and Dec. 8, 1979, and on Feb. 16, April 12 and June 14, 1980. Entering college freshmen may take the ACT on Aug. 27, 1979, and on Jan. 7, June 2 and July 7, 1980, Mrs. Cates said.

Delta State was recently authorized to administer the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) to seniors who plan to enter medical school. Previously students in the Delta area traveled to Jackson or Oxford to take the test. DSU will offer the test in Cleveland on September 15.

Other tests to be administered include the Graduate Management Admissions Test in business (GMAT) on Oct. 27, 1979, and March 15, 1980; the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) to college seniors who plan to enter graduate school on Oct. 20, 1979, April 25, 1980 and June 14, 1980.

The Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) will be administered to seniors who plan to enter law school on Oct. 12, 1979, and April 19, 1980.

The National Teacher Examination (NTE) will be given to all seniors who expect to receive a bachelor of science degree in education from Delta State. The NTE is required of DSU students before graduation and several Mississippi school systems require that their teachers take the test.

The NTE will be administered at Delta State University on Nov. 10, 1979, Feb. 16 and July 10, 1980.

For additional information on these tests, contact Mrs. Mary Alice Cates, assistant to the director of counseling and testing, Union 301, P.O. Box 3303, DSU, Cleveland, MS 38735, or phone (601) 843-5377.

VA News

Q - My claim for compensation for a World War II service disability has been approved by the Veterans Administration. Am I now eligible for service disabled veterans insurance?

A - You are not eligible if your only service was during World War II. Service disabled veterans insurance is available only to those veterans released from active service under other than dishonorable conditions after April 24, 1961.

Q - My father reached age 78 in March 1979. Is he eligible for the 25 percent increase in his VA pension?

A - No. Public Law 95-508 eliminated the 25 percent increase in rates for veterans attaining age 78 on or after January 1, 1979. However, those pensioners who attained age 78 before January 1, 1979, do retain the 25 percent pension increase they received.

Davis names Long Beach office head

E.G. (Johnny) Johnston has been named new manager of the W.H. Davis Real Estate firm's Long Beach Office. Johnston is a native of Bay St. Louis.

He attended St. Stanislaus Day School, Bay St. Louis High School, two years at William & Mary's Norfolk Division, Real Estate Law Course at University of Virginia and graduated from the Norfolk Realtor's Institute.

Experienced in interior decoration and household appliances, Johnston held a Virginia real estate license before returning to Mississippi. He obtained his Mississippi real estate license in 1973 and began with W.H. Davis in March 1974, working from the Long Beach office where he was a manager producer. He has been a member of fraternal organizations including one he founded, the Guadalcanal Veterans Campaign.

THINKABOUT—Kathy has the problem of trying to decide how to prepare her program for an ice skating competition. She decides to use Library Research to help solve her problem. Deciding on an approach to problem-solving is one of the themes expressed in "Thinkabout," a new classroom series developed by a consortium of thirty-five state and provincial agencies under the management of the nonprofit Agency For Instructional Television. The series begins at 9 a.m. Monday, Sept. 17 and will be aired on Mondays and Wednesdays at 9 a.m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 1 p.m. Thinkabout clips will be included in a preview night on METV at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13.

BOOK REVIEW

Born September 17, 1932 Kalamazoo, Michigan. He was one of two brothers to be ordained a priest. He left the Catholic American family, grew up in priesthood in 1967 after writing an explosive, best-selling book, A Modern Priest Looks At His Outdated Church.

California (1971).

He has co-authored a musical review with Darrel Fetty of Los Angeles, called "Street Music," has written lyrics for Burt Bacharach's album "Futures," and has recorded "There Are Men Too Gentle To Live Among Wolves" with an original score by Elmer Bernstein.

An avid outdoorsman and a "decaying athlete," Kavanagh makes his home in Nevada City, California, a small gold mining town in the Sierras where the ghosts of Mark Twain and Bret Harte still linger.

This was followed in 1968 by The Birth of God, a challenging look at contemporary religious myths. Kavanagh began publishing his poetry in 1970, beginning with the now classic There Are Men Too Gentle To Live Among Wolves, followed by Will You Be My Friend (1971), Faces in the City (1973), The Crooked Angel, America (1975), Sunshine Days and Foggy Nights (1976), Winter Has Lasted Too Long (1977) and Walk Easy on the Earth (1979).

James Kavanagh holds a Ph.D. in religious philosophy from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. (1966) and is a licensed clinical psychologist in the State of

He lectures at colleges throughout the country, reads his poetry, and continues to wander in search of "whatever there is to find." COWARD FOR THEM ALL, his first novel, is to be published by Bantam in September.
